

ANTI-BRIBERY

About this course

For many, the subject of Anti-Bribery is confusing, with guidance and rules unclear and vague. This course simplifies this confusing subject using scenarios and examples throughout.

The course explains how bribery is determined by many factors and what may be considered bribery in some sectors is not the bribery in others.

At the end of the course is an assessment comprising of scenario-based questions to thoroughly demonstrate knowledge and understanding of Anti-Bribery responsibilities.

Suitable for:

The course is suitable for all employees. It is particularly beneficial for anyone dealing directly with clients and customers.

Course covers:

Definitions of bribery, including concealment and excessiveness.

Legislative requirements of The Bribery Act 2010.

Employer and employee responsibilities.

Corporate Essentials

This course is included in our Corporate Essentials pack which also includes:

Data Protection and the GDPR

Modern Slavery

Online Safety and Security

£36 incl. VAT
for all four courses

